Cullinan Studio expands co-working hub at the Foundry

ISEP member, Cullinan Studio welcomes sustainability engineers Etude (also an ISEP member) and structural and civil engineers Mason Navarro Pledge to the 'Foundry', its low-carbon retrofit office by the canal in Islington.

Cullinan Studio has taken the opportunity presented by the lockdown to create a multidisciplinary co-working environment, made possible by the greater level of homeworking that will be a permanent part of the architecture practice's culture going forward.

These new members join design practice Maynard, Neil Dusheiko Architects, environmental consultants ech2o, and the Sustainable Development Foundation; representing an alliance of pioneering organisations within the sustainable buildings movement.

All the organisations look forward to expanding their existing networks, collaborating on joint initiatives, and contributing to a dynamic shared events programme.
